

Warren Avenue Playing Fields 7.4.14

The situation this morning is as follows: -

Above: It is very disappointing that whoever it is using the park still has not learnt to put the bin bags into the large blue bin

Above: bins are overflowing this morning

There is still a lot of litter trapped against the northern fence line, within the park

Some litter scattered on the field

Months after first reporting this, the light from this lamp post is still being obscured by over growing ivy

The path is now down to half its proper width in places

Nettles are growing around this bench making it nearly unusable. Urgent park maintenance is needed.
